MONITORING, EVALUATION, AND LEARNING (MEL) POLICY

The Longhorn Foundation Trust (LFT) is committed to applying a systematic, data-driven approach to Monitoring, Evaluation, and Learning (MEL) to strengthen program effectiveness and impact. Recognizing that continuous learning is integral to delivering high-quality education interventions, LFT uses MEL to track implementation progress, assess outcomes, and measure the impact of its literacy and numeracy programs for underserved children. Guided by its core values of Equity, Quality, Understanding, Integrity, and Purpose (EQUIP), the Foundation ensures that MEL processes support evidence-based decision-making, promote accountability, and enable adaptive program management.

Policy Objectives

LFT aims to implement a robust MEL framework that facilitates continuous learning, drives program improvement, and informs strategic decisions. The organization seeks to generate reliable, timely, and actionable data to evaluate the effectiveness and relevance of its interventions, ensuring that programs consistently meet the needs of children, communities, and education stakeholders.

Policy Principles

1. Data Driven Monitoring

LFT will collect, analyze, and report accurate and timely data on program activities, outputs, and outcomes. Monitoring processes will ensure that implementation aligns with program objectives and planned activities.

2. Evaluation and Impact Assessment

Regular evaluations will be conducted to assess program effectiveness, identify lessons learned, and measure the impact on learners and communities. Evaluation findings will guide program design, resource allocation, and strategic priorities.

3. Learning and Continuous Improvement

MEL findings will be systematically used to inform evidence-based decision-making and enhance program quality. Lessons learned will be shared with staff, partners, and stakeholders to promote innovation, accountability, and organizational learning.

4. Stakeholder Accountability.

LFT will ensure that MEL results are communicated transparently to donors, partners, and other stakeholders, demonstrating program achievements, challenges, and impact while fostering trust and collaboration.
